

Country Comfort Inn, Hunter Valley

Use information in the description below to answer Questions 1 to 3. Write your answer in boxes 1-3 on your answer sheet.

Morpeth is today a small town about two hours' drive north of Sydney. The town of Morpeth grew on original 2000 acres of land given to an English army officer, Lieutenant Edward Close (1790-1860). During the 1830s and 1840s Morpeth became a major river port, due to its favourable location. Produce and timber were brought to Morpeth from inland New South Wales and shipped down the Hunter River coast and then to Sydney. However, in 1870 a railway line reached the town, and the importance of river shipping began to decline. Today, Morpeth, with its beautiful old buildings, is a popular tourist destination.

Questions 8 – 14

Read the description below of the town of Morpeth and answer the questions that follow.

The best way to see Morpeth is to take the Morpeth Heritage Walk. This covers about three kilometres, and takes visitors past many beautiful historical buildings. Starting at Fig Tree Hill, which has picnic facilities, stroll past the Surgeon's Cottage, built in 1845, formerly home of the local doctor, now shops. From there you will come to Morpeth Bridge, erected in 1870, which replaced a ferry boat. Opposite it on the right is the Courthouse, still in use today. Continue your walk past the historic Railway Station, then turn into George Street. Stroll past gracious houses until you come to the Church of the Immaculate Conception on your right, built of bricks made in Gosford. Continuing up George Street, you come to the shopping district; browse through the shops or stop for refreshment. Your tour of Morpeth will finish at magnificent Closebourne House, built in 1826 by Lieutenant Edward Close.
